your priceless files

Why backup to the cloud?

In the event of hard drive failure, theft, natural disasters, or human error, you could lose all your irreplaceable files, photos, music, and other digital memories.

All your backed up files are fully accessible from any computer with internet access.

External drive backup just isn't enough. External drives crash, and you need your data in multiple geographic locations in case of a data loss emergency.

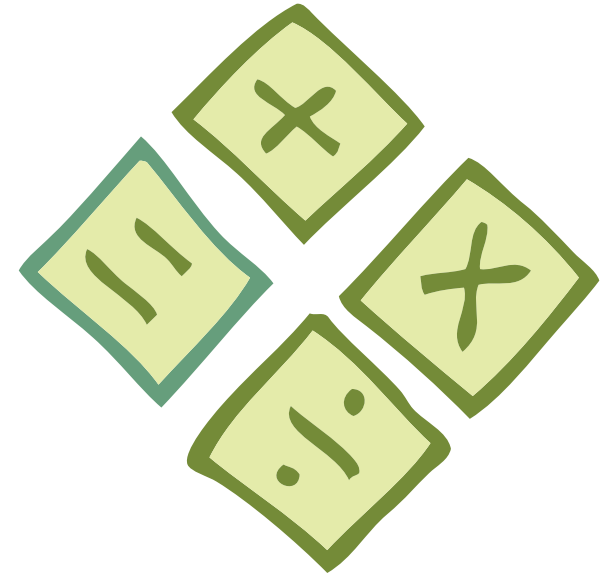

Cloud backup is cheaper and more efficient than its predecessor, tape backup.

Automated backup lets you “set it and forget it.” Choose your backup

Completely secure, using 256-bit military grade encryption

You can easily share files, including large files where email just won't cut it, directly from your account
